

In the Summer of 2012 we decided to extend our family home which as well as building services required detailed plans to be drawn up. On recommendation from our builder we contacted John Anderson (JAPS) to assist us in this. Having had an unsatisfactory meeting with another architect we invited John over so we could run our ideas past him as well get an idea on the costs involved. Within a very short space of time we realised we'd found the man for the job. After the usual introductions we got down to the business in hand and found John to be not only professional and businesslike but a great sounding board to bounce ideas off. This initial meeting was the catalyst for our project and from there on John dealt with all matters pertaining to the array of paperwork required to satisfy building control and the local authority. He kept us informed of the various payments and the timelines involved so any hold ups were eliminated as much as practically possible. Nothing was too much trouble from site visits to changes of mind to copies of drawings. As I work in the construction industry these freed me up to deal with the builder and help with the build itself. In summary if you need to have plans drawn up then I cannot think of anyone better than John. Punctual, reliable and professional rounded off with a pleasant and courteous approach. We would highly recommend JAPS to anybody. Simon & Celia Merrick, Chepstow.
